

Lena Bhimani

Lena has worked in education for over 16 years holding various positions from Key Stage Coordinator to Assistant Principal. These roles have given her a strong understanding of the mathematics curriculum. She joins LDE UTC as a Teacher of Mathematics. Prior to becoming a teacher, Lena has worked in industry and for an independent, not-for-profit organisation promoting the contribution that engineers, and engineering and technology, make to society. Lena graduated from the University of Greenwich with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. These experiences have given her an appreciation of the various careers paths that are available through studying maths and engineering and the contribution they make to society. To relax Lena enjoys travelling, reading and cooking.
